Public libraries offer access to ad-free film and TV streaming

If streaming services are adding up and you don't like being interrupted by ads, check out Kanopy, the streaming service that is free with a Monroe County public library card. Choose from over 30,000 documentaries, popular films, international films and learning videos, including selections from The Great Courses. The library has recently added two new collections with unlimited plays: British Film & Television and Kanopy Favorites. You also get unlimited plays with Kanopy Kids, a curated collection for young viewers. Watch online or on your device with the Kanopy app. More information, including how you can pre-register online for a library card and get started right away, is at keyslibraries.org/online.

Habitat for Humanity opens homeownership application

Habitat Middle Keys has opened the application process for its homeownership program. From now until July 15, pre-applications will be accepted for two two-bedroom homes. The pre-application is at www.habitatmiddlekeys.org/home-ownership. More information is available via email to fsm@habitatmiddlekeys.org or at 305-743-9828.
